

Counsel Charges Production Tax Would Prohibit Provincial Trade

JUDGES HOLD THEIR VERDICT ON REFERENCE

Hearing on Validity of Agricultural Land Relief Act Ends

CALGARY, June 9.—Decision was reserved by the appellate division of the Supreme Court of Alberta on the government's reference seeking a ruling on the validity of the Agricultural Land Relief Act.

Following the full court heard by Chief Justice Horne Harvey, argument of counsel concluded late Wednesday. It was indicated it would be some time before a ruling is issued.

Commonly known as the seven per cent production tax, the act is designed to replace the agricultural land tax. It also provides for a system of crop loss insurance.

COUNSEL ACTING
J. W. Wilson, K.C., and W. S. Gray, K.C., represented the attorney-general's department and J. E. Brownlee, K.C., and C. W. Clement of Edmonton appeared for agricultural interests opposed to the act.

Challenging the validity of the legislation, Mr. Brownlee charged the act would amount to or prohibit export from the province to another.

"It is obviously a matter of federal jurisdiction," he declared. "It is ultra vires."

Approximately $200,000,000 of agricultural products were exported annually, he said. The act would prohibit the export of any product, even if it is done under license, of veal, pig or that of produce in the province he asked.

REASONS GIVEN
Mr. Brownlee and Mr. Clement, who dealt with federal trade and commerce regulations, declared the act was invalid because:

It provides for an indirect tax, beyond the power of the province; interferes with the policies of the Dominion of Canada; and interferes with trade and commerce and contravenes the British North America act and is invalid because it is impossible of performance.

In supporting the act, government counsel declared it was not a tax. It varied the tax on the production of the crown. The crown takes a revenue.

Mr. Brownlee held it was a tax on sales. This was denied by Mr. Wilson in citing the crown's duty "to tax" said Mr. Wilson, "it is a definite tax on produce. Not on sales."

Mr. Brownlee explained a farmer sold his crop or his produce and he would "pay nothing."

USE OWN PRODUCE
Though the crown claims a vested interest from the minimum grain guarantee or an animal is born, the producer could, Mr. Wilson contended, use his produce for his own use without paying the tax. It is a share to the government.

"Every time a farmer takes an animal he is converting crown property to his own use," commented Mr. Justice A. McGilivray.

"He can eat enough he doesn't have to pay any tax," added Mr. Wilson.

In arguing the act prohibits export, Mr. Brownlee declared the act would prevent the movement of certain commodities from Alberta. Before a farmer could export his produce, he would have to get a permit from the minister of municipal affairs, administering the act.

FRUSTRATE MOVEMENT
"It would practically frustrate the movement of commodities at certain seasons of the year," he declared.

He also declared the act, by imposing certain duties on Alberta's 1,600 grain elevator operators, "needs to change the whole procedure laid down by the board of grain commissioners for Canada." The 1,600 operators would become collectors for the crown.

In his rebuttal, Mr. Wilson said the sole question for the court is whether the constitutional validity of the act. He said he added would be necessary to establish the "impossibility of performance."

Marquis of Bute Disposes of 50 Percent Cardiff

By E. EDWARD NORCROSS
London Special Correspondent of Edmonton Bulletin.

LONDON, Eng., June 9.—In the latest single real estate deal ever known in this country the Marquis of Bute has sold an unknown buyer about half the town of Cardiff, Wales, for a sum believed to be approximately $100,000,000.

The land disposed of is covered with 21,500 buildings, the owners which hold their respective properties on long lease. It will make no difference to them. They will merely pay their ground-rent to the purchaser instead of to the Marquis.

Many old and noble families in England own land on which parts of Derby and the Earl of Selton possess in this way big slices of Liverpool and as a result several dual families hold blocks of streets and squares in London.

For the most part the owners of such properties have done nothing to create the great values they now represent. Their ancestors either inherited or bought the lands, and they have passed them on to their heirs.

CALGARY HAS RAIN
The Calgary area enjoyed heavy rain Wednesday and Wednesday night, with the rain being still on Tuesday morning. Although the rain had stopped, for a time the city of Calgary, snow mingled with the rain, so melted on reaching the ground.

North of Edmonton, the rain fell at 6:30 a.m. at Dawson Creek, Hinton, Peace River, Beaverlodge, Grande Prairie and Peace River.

Temperatures over the province were forced lower by the rains and Edmonton readings on Wednesday stayed down in the cool brackets, the highest reading for the day being only 54 above, registered at 3 p.m. Slight variation during the night kept the mercury down below 40 a.m., while the 9 a.m. reading was 36.

PROBABLE SNOWS
The forecast for Alberta generally is for a snowfall on Thursday. In the near north at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, temperatures ranged from 40 above, at the north end, to 38 above, at the south end.

The Canadian Pacific Telegraphs received the following reports from their agents in the north: central and northern Alberta:

Lacombe 8 hours rain.
Hawley 4 hours rain.
Dawson 8 hours rain.
Coronation 8 hours steady rain.
Kerrol 8 hours steady rain.
Cannington 8 hours heavy rain.

RAIN FALLING IN SOUTHERN ALBERTA AREA
LETHBRIDGE, June 9.—Steady rain set in here at noon Thursday and was spreading south and east during the afternoon. The rain comes opportunistically to help farmers combat the grasshopper.

Hoppers were beginning to hatch in numbers and many of the bait stations set out by the farmers were being destroyed. The rain was expected to be the first of the season.

PLANE MAKING MERCY FLIGHT
Suffering from severe face and head injuries sustained Wednesday when he was struck in the face by a plane bell while working in a sawmill near Dawson Creek, Bill Clay, Lethbridge, was being rushed to Edmonton from Dawson Creek in a United States ambulance.

Clay was taken to the Dawson Creek hospital following the accident. He was expected to be met at the airport by an ambulance and Clay will be taken to the University hospital.

Premier Aberhart Returns To City
Premier William Aberhart returned to the city on Thursday afternoon from Saskatchewan, where he has spent most of the last three weeks. He returned from Yorkton, which point he left on Wednesday morning.

The premier was accompanied by Hon. Dr. W. C. Brown, minister of health, Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs, and Glen L. MacLachlan, chairman of the Alberta Social Credit Board.

With several others who had spoken in the Saskatchewan campaign, the premier said he was returning to the city on Wednesday night on his way home.

Dr. C. MacLachlan, who had spoken at the Macdonald hotel shortly after his arrival, the premier said he was returning to the city on Wednesday night on his way home.

Woman Reels Her 700 Pounds On Two Beds

CHICAGO, June 9.—Mrs. Sarah Day reeled on two beds in the county hospital today. She weighs an estimated 700 pounds. She made the trip from her home in a private ambulance after a police patrol arrested her small, three-pounder, who was found in the ambulance.

After a lengthy stay in the hospital, Mrs. Day was moved to a private home. She is a WPA worker and weighs 150 pounds. She said Sarah weighed only 150 pounds when she married her husband.

She is suffering from high blood pressure.

Recent Possibility Seen In Seats Won By Social Credit

Many Lose Deposits As Liberals Return To Province Power

PATTERSON MAJORITY
Premier Patterson had a majority of almost 1,000 in Cunningham, when he was opposed by Mrs. Gladys Strum, C.C.F. George Williams, leader of the C.C.F., held the riding of Wadena, defeating Dr. D. C. McCallum. Liberal, by 1,602 and H. W. Arnold, Liberal, by 4,336. The latter will lose his deposit of $100.

The leader of the Conservatives, J. Diefenbaker, was defeated in Arm River, losing to the sitting member, G. M. Macdonald, Liberal, by 1,168 votes. Diefenbaker succeeded Dr. J. M. Anderson, Conservative leader in October 1932, but has never held a seat in the house.

Dr. Anderson, premier from 1929 until the defeat in 1934, went down to Liberal in Saskatchewan.

SIX MINISTERS WIN

At least one member of the Patterson government was defeated. Hon. C. M. Dunn, in Melville, and there was a possibility of Kerr losing in Turfhorpe. The other six were elected.

The feature of the election campaign was the intense drive by the Social Credit party to capture Saskatchewan. The candidates, Premier Patterson, Albert Hart, most of his cabinet and many of his followers, left their homes to campaign here. They drew thousands of Saskatchewan voters to their meetings. Mr. Hart, addressing 3,000 people in the town of Melville on the eve of polling.

But the ballots told another story. Evidently, Saskatchewan people were prepared to listen to Social Credit monetary theories but not vote for them.

The campaign of the Social Crediters featured debt reduction legislation, the Alberta Social Credit monetary reform in general.

They made no appeal on the basis of monthly dividends, such as the $25 that featured the 1933 Alberta election.

The Social Credit movement became a potent political force in 1933 when the party captured 98 out of 63 Alberta seats and formed the first Social Credit government in the world. In 1936, five Social Crediters were elected to the Manitoba legislature but in 1937, the party suffered a rout in British Columbia.

The Saskatchewan election was the first, since Alberta, in which the Social Credit forces were led by Premier Albert Hart. He appealed to Saskatchewan to stand shoulder-to-shoulder with Alberta in a concerted fight against "the money power" and "financial slavery."

RECORD IN OFFICE

On the other hand, the Liberals under Premier Patterson, arrested the Social Credit administration in their appeal to the voters. They pointed to their record in office and contended it with the Albertan administration's record in Alberta. Particularly, they sought the support of all persons opposed to Social Credit in an effort not to let the two different parties and groups.

The C.C.F. with 31 in the field, appealed particularly by stressing government policy, stressing general unemployment and excessive patronage. They made no particular emphasis of socialization on industry.

ONLY TWO WOMEN

Only two women ran in the election and both were defeated. Mrs. Strum by Premier Patterson and Mrs. Gertrude Telford, also a C.C.F. by Hon. R. J. M. Parker, minister of municipal affairs, in Pelly.

The trend was noticeable from the earliest returns. In riding after riding, the Liberal and Social Credit campaign in a few failed to elect a man.

Labor candidates of various sorts ran in Regina and Saskatoon but they were never in the race.

LIBERAL WIN IS HAILED BY EDMONTONIANS

In the province, an impressive cavalcade of motor cars set out from the point of assembly. Fully 100 cars were in the parade as it swung east on Jasper, and this number was considerably increased as a route east and west on the main thoroughfare was followed. At every cross street more cars swung into line and the din from the honking of horns was deafening. One spot from the parade carrying about 40 persons, all nudged together, but continuing themselves in spite of the deafening they received. At the end of the parade 800 cars were estimated to be in the line.

The resourceful motorist flew a big Union Jack from the hood of his car.

East on Jasper to 95 street, west on the same street and up and down several times, with an ever-increasing number of cars joining the impromptu demonstration, continued for some time with all participants in good humor and with spirits undimmed by the heavy rain.

It was a cheering sight to see the parade carrying on in the pouring rain, the parade carrying on in the pouring rain, the parade carrying on in the pouring rain.

In outside districts the Liberal party was celebrating the night to celebrate and celebrate they did.

Parades being organized in small towns all over the province.

PARADE IN RAIN
At Camrose the celebrants paraded in a downpour of welcome rain. Cars with their headlights on, horns tooting, parading the downtown streets, the parade carrying on in the pouring rain, the parade carrying on in the pouring rain, the parade carrying on in the pouring rain.

A bonfire, kindled by jubilant crowds on the main street of Camrose, was visible for miles. One person pulled huge bonfires, which were observed making calls, bidding good-bye to friends and neighbors.

But not only Liberals were jubilant. The rejection of Social Credit theories by the people of Saskatchewan was received with satisfaction in other quarters.

RETURN TO REASON
Dr. M. Duggan, M.L.A., Alberta Conservative leader, was one of those who saw in the Social Credit defeat a "return to reason."

"The position taken by the Saskatchewan government before the election, to the effect that a government which repudiates its obligations cannot be trusted by the people, has been definitely vindicated," said Dr. Duggan. "The rejection of Social Credit with its impracticable theories, is a matter of profound satisfaction to a majority of the citizens of Alberta."

From Lethbridge Robert Barrowman, president of the Alberta Liberal Association, voiced the feelings of the members of his political organization.

TREND IN LIBERALISM
The election results in Saskatchewan clearly indicate that our fellow Canadians in the neighboring province have no desire to be placed in the same unfortunate position as the people of Alberta, he said. "They have made it clear that they will not stand for any further in Saskatchewan or for the disruption of confederation. Again they place their trust in straight Liberalism without any tinges with any other parties. They have demonstrated that they believe Liberal policies and Liberal administration can see them through as they have done in the past. It is a great victory for Liberalism."

As for Premier Albert Hart and his political adventures in their retreat from Saskatchewan we would respectfully refer them to Daniel, chapter five, and verses twenty-six and twenty-seven.

BENEFICIAL EFFECT
Duncan Innes, president, Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association, saw the election as "something which the people of Saskatchewan can congratulate themselves. They made certain that they are not going to be troubled by a coalition government."

"The results in the neighboring province will have a beneficial effect on Alberta. It will restore confidence so that money will flow more freely and times in general will be considerably improved," he said.

Of late we have heard much of the retrogression of the old line parties. Well, the result in Saskatchewan shows beyond all possible doubt that the Liberal party at least is charged with vitality and is destined to live on. Also, it shows very plainly that the Liberal party is quite capable of standing its own feet, in spite of a concentrated opposition of several parties, classes and factions. It is a cheering sight to see the parade carrying on in the pouring rain, the parade carrying on in the pouring rain, the parade carrying on in the pouring rain.

CONGRATULATIONS

Court Business Is Not Worth Dressing Up For

MONTREAL, June 9.—Nude but not bothered about it, Zacharie David sat in court Wednesday and listened anxiously to questions with one word—"Yes"—as they gave him a hearing on a wage-rancy charge.

The court room was Zacharie's cell at provincial police headquarters. All the might of the provincial police was there to put his clothes on Wednesday and relief which this victory gave him. It means the end of the Social Credit menace in Canada. It was the situation courageously. It was even forced to put in a sales tax to keep the educational system operating.

Because of the hardships and privations which the people of Saskatchewan endured, they might easily have been tempted to vote for Social Credit. Indeed, they voted for a government which had done its duty, and the result is a complete vindication of democracy. It restores faith and courage to all believers in democracy and lessens the danger of dictatorship of any kind.

E. S. Kane, president of the Edmonton Conservative association, it seems to me that the Saskatchewan election is a victory for the people of Canada. Naturally I am disappointed in the showing of my party, but I feel that a good many Conservatives voted for the Liberals to defeat Social Credit. I really think the result marks the recession of the Social Credit movement in the west.

Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works: The outcome of the election seems to me that the Saskatchewan election is a victory for the people of Canada. Naturally I am disappointed in the showing of my party, but I feel that a good many Conservatives voted for the Liberals to defeat Social Credit. I really think the result marks the recession of the Social Credit movement in the west.

A royal good time was had by all in the ballroom of Buckingham Palace when anti-slots and shanty King George, Queen Elizabeth, royal princes, dukes and earls and their courtiers were dined at the latest fete at the Royal Derby Night Ball. It was the informal dance given even by the British rulers.

With the results included the following:
A. R. McRae, former M.L.A., the result of the voting in Saskatchewan is gratifying in the extreme. Those of us who have been Liberals all our lives are pleased that the party has shown itself so full of life and so strong and progressive. It proves beyond all doubt that the Liberal party can stand on its own feet in its appeal to the public. Liberal policies that are the best for Canada and the people of Saskatchewan have endorsed this view in a most convincing manner.

R. C. Marshall, former M.L.A. and ex-Mayor of Calgary: "Social Credit has been tried in British Columbia and failed. Now it has failed completely in Saskatchewan. It is now concentrated in Alberta. This movement has done a great deal of harm to the province. It will not last much longer and the force that will do away with it is Liberalism."

"I mean by Liberalism, all Liberal thought, no matter what the degree of its forthrightness. The results in Saskatchewan show the pointer and the direction of the party and its adherents should show progressive increases as time goes on."

John Blair, secretary of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce: "The result in Saskatchewan was not unexpected in view of the trend of events in the province. For nearly three years now, we have had men here who said that they could get on in Social Credit. They hired the best brains in the way of technicians and advisers that they could get and they failed to institute this system."

"Alberta has been the unfortunate laboratory for the most dismal experiment in economic in Canada. This was never been anything like it."

"The result is a tribute to the appeal of the Liberal platform and to the good judgment of the Saskatchewan electors."

Dr. Walter Marshall, Liberal, M.L.A. for Edmonton, also expressed gratification. I presume that I am one of the few members of the Alberta legislature still in this fair land. Those of us who have assumed the responsibility of public life have been following the election in the neighboring province with a good deal of interest and with anxiety.

Many years ago I used to practice my profession in southern Saskatchewan and I ran the impression of farmers digging deep in their pockets to find $10 for the railroad. The result in Saskatchewan is gratifying to those of us who are on the opposition benches of the legislature. The results reaffirm the belief that there are still great many voters who can think for themselves.

I believe that every citizen of Alberta will have a sign of relief. The election means one thing and one thing only: it has sounded the death knell of the present Social Credit government in Alberta. Gerald O'Connor, M.L.A.: It is difficult to express the pleasure to go to court, so the court obliged by going to Zacharie.

The examination was as follows:
Q—Zach, they say you were a vagrant.
A—Yes?
Q—We will come back June 18 for a trial.
A—Yes?
Q—Aid a mental examination, would you?
A—Yes?

interests. They did that for one reason—to make sure of Social Credit, which I regard as the chief enemy of the country. In view of all circumstances, the result is satisfactory to the C.C.F., despite the fact Social Credit's entry divided our votes.

Mrs. A. H. Gardiner, president of the Edmonton Women's Liberal Club: "The Social Credit dragon except down upon Saskatchewan belching thunder and snorting plaudits but the valiant, dynamic, progressive Liberals of Saskatchewan have all but annihilated it. When Albertans get another chance at I believe it will become as extinct a species as the dodo bird."

William Irvine, president of C.C.F. clubs in Alberta: What was said most definitely by the people of Saskatchewan in the election was that they certainly do not want Social Credit—and no wonder! The vote, however, doesn't indicate what they really do want, because they were so afraid of Social Credit so determined to put it down where it belongs that they rallied to support and re-elect a government which has ceased to serve their best interests.

Loans Hard To Get In Alberta
Bennett States

OTTAWA, June 9.—Legislation enacted by the Alberta legislature has made it difficult for insurance and other lending companies to lend money in Alberta. R. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, told the House of Commons Wednesday.

He referred to the Securities Tax Act which imposes a levy on all mortgages.
O. B. Elliott (S.C., Kinsley) when he was discussing the new Housing Act, said he had found it impossible to obtain a loan under the present Housing Act for erection of a house in Edmonton.

Saskatchewan

The early returns from Saskatchewan dispelled doubts as to the outcome of the elections there yesterday, and gave promise of a sweeping victory for the Government which was confirmed by the later reports. Congratulations are due to the Premier and his colleagues; but not less to the people of the province on having emerged with assurance of stable government from a situation which might easily have resulted in a hedge-podge legislature—and in fact seemed at a distance fairly likely to do so.

The province—and its Government—will be none the less because the opposition forces in the new legislature will be numerically stronger than they were in the last—though the division of these forces must tend to weaken their effectiveness as critics. A too preponderant majority in a legislature is commonly an incubus, and frequently a positive menace to progressiveness in policy and efficiency in administration.

No provincial election for a generation has aroused so keen an interest throughout the Dominion. In Alberta the outcome was awaited with tenseness amounting to anxiety. The interest-compelling feature was the bid for Social Credit control of a second province. If Saskatchewan declared for the Douglas experiment on an early election in Manitoba, the province's conclusion, with a strong possibility that the three prairie provinces would be welded into a Social Credit "bloc". No where could that prospect be viewed with indifference, and beyond any doubt it was in the other provinces viewed generally with apprehension.

For another reason also the contest excited unusual concern everywhere. For the first time a declaration of one province invaded another province, organized a political party, selected its candidates, and undertook to overthrow its administration. Had this invasion succeeded in its purpose, provincial autonomy in politics hereafter would have been a dead letter. So far from succeeding, the intrusion aroused resentment, and undoubtedly consolidated support of the Patterson Government. When the heat of battle has passed, even Alberta Social Crediters will realize, as others do, that in repelling the intruders the electors of Saskatchewan have rendered a good service to the people of all the provinces.

"The King"

At the expressed wish of His Majesty, today has been proclaimed by His Excellency the Governor-General to be a public holiday in recognition of the birthday anniversary of King George VI. June 9th is not of course the actual date of that event. The King was born on Dec. 14th, 1895. He will not be more than complete his 43rd year until six months have elapsed. Presumably it is the anniversary to come, not that which passed six months ago, that is being celebrated today.

A change of date for the public observance was decided upon because to interject a holiday in mid-December would interfere with pre-Christmas trade and social arrangements. June 9th was chosen as a date likely to cause a minimum interruption of business, and also because it does not fall near enough to other Empire-wide holidays to seriously conflict with these celebrations.

The latter consideration is discounted in Canada because May 24th is here one of the most popular holidays, while Dominion Day is only three weeks away. So much in Edmonton and other Canadian centres the occasion is not marked today by a complete suspension of business. But nowhere in the Empire will there be more sincere wishes that His Majesty may be spared to celebrate many more anniversaries in good health and happiness.

The Background

Saskatchewan, Alberta's "twin" province, will be 33 years old next fall. The legislature elected there yesterday is the ninth. The first eight have thus on the average approximated four years terms, though the last preceding one held out for the full five years allowed by law.

In the recently dissolved legislature there were 55 members. In the new legislature there will be 52. The redistribution act passed at last session abolished 8 former constituencies but created 5 new ones, leaving a net reduction of 3. Only 50 of the 52 seats were filled yesterday. Elections in the far-northern ridings of Athabasca and Cardston are deferred until July 28th. Yesterday the Liberals had 50 candidates in the running, Social Crediters 39, C.C.F. 31, Conservatives 23, others 13. Total 156.

At the general election June 19th, 1934, Liberals candidates received 206,191 votes; Conservatives 114,973; Farmer-Labor 103,582; other parties 4,134. The candidates elected were Liberals 50, Farmer-Labor 5. Total vote 428,900.

Excepting the term from 1929 to 1934, the Liberals have been in power continuously from the organization of the province in 1905. The present Premier, Hon. W. J. Patterson, succeeded Hon. J. G. Gardiner in 1935. The former premiers, Hon. Walter Scott, Hon. W. M. Martin, Hon. C. A. Dunning, Hon. J. T. M. Anderson.

The present population of the province is estimated to be 965,000.

Editorial Notes

Prince Tokugawa has been a patient in a Reginald hospital. If someone had bombed the hospital that would have helped the Prince to understand why foreigners do not approve of what his countrymen are doing in China.

Prime Minister De Valera told an audience the plain truth when he said, "There is nothing so important as a proportional representation of the people in a good, solid, stable government." Better a government strong enough to do wrong than a legislature composed of groups only strong enough to squabble and sell support to each other.

The Senate committee was assured political considerations would not disturb a unified railway management. The disturbing would be the other way about. A railway board controlling all the railways in Canada would be able to "disturb" political affairs to the extent of making and unmaking governments pretty much at will. Now don't anybody try to tell us railway chiefs never dabble in politics.

The opening of the Mackenzie river country by allowing it a railway outlet and giving private enterprise a full and fair opportunity throughout its vast extent would put life into every part of the North West and go far to placing Canada as a field for enterprise on at least an equal footing with the United States. Surely such an eminently progressive and intensely patriotic government as Canada now has will not undertake an undertaking of this kind, take steps to prevent that.

Current Comment

Inflation?

All over the world inflation is coming. Nothing can stop it. Nothing, in fact, has stopped it for many a year past. Writing the history of these strange "inflation" conditions in future days will note that for all this time inflation has been steadily increasing.

The franc is not what it was. Nor is the dollar. Nor is the pound. And they never will be again. No need to deplore it. Only inflation, in one form or another, has kept trade moving in Europe these last four hundred years.—Daily Express, London.

A Case for Refunding

So far, we have not seen the suggestion advanced to the Senate Committee that it is urged in a report of the House of Commons railway and shipping committee, that there should be an extension of the funded debt structure of the C.N.R. This report states:

"Of grave concern to your committee is the comparatively high rate of interest charged on a portion of the securities issued to meet this indebtedness, particularly on perpetual bonds and on others which are only callable in the very distant future."

If, with honor, there is a way of buying in these bonds and of replacing them by issues bearing low rates of interest, it is worth investigating.

Consideration of many aspects of the situation, all of them may not be apparent, involves a great deal of national policy. It would be a very undesirable thing to appear to place business, industry and consumers at the mercy of a powerful monopoly in one of Canada's most vital services—transportation. This monopoly with its many ramifications, its stupendous financial and industrial power, could not be excluded from policy and it would have an influence greater than any organization should wield.

Sir Edward Beatty as President of the C.P.R., and a great national figure, can hardly be blamed for endeavoring to get the best for his company. At the same time he has set himself to a task which is almost insurmountable. He must resist or there promises to be a return to the days when they knocked timidly and impotently at the doors of the great transportation company.—Vancouver Daily News.

"A Way of Life"

In its formative period, modern democracy relied its case on the belief that constructive national achievement could be insured only under a government fully responsive to the interplay of social forces. Democracy was to be a co-operative effort; the value of the individual was to be measured in terms of his co-operative contribution; freedom was to release his co-operative energy; a democracy's development and expansion would give direction to policy, temper individual pursuit, and condition the use of liberty.

A way of life rather than a static formula, a dynamic orientation rather than a static formula, democracy depends for its success on a constant re-orientation of its concept and its practice. Its outlook, attitude, and conduct of man. Liberty invoked for any other purpose becomes obstructive. Disregard of the individual's value in the name of liberty, is a denial of democracy. Industrialization has sharpened class conflict to the extent of making agreement on fundamental issues little more than a vain hope. Coercion may be a substitute for agreement, but a substitute which we reject as undemocratic. There is only one way to proceed in re-orientation—co-operation which is the very essence of democracy.

In our present preoccupation with equality of status, Minimum safeguards of social and economic security are one approach to equality of status. Yet far-sighted policy must rely for its ultimate accomplishment on the individual's freedom. Unless we strengthen our government services, federal, state, and local, individual security will be an unattainable ideal. Freedom would be a more serious threat to democracy than any willful act of aggression.—By Fritz Morison, M.A., Assistant Professor of Government, Harvard University.

What Basis of Division?

Sir Edward Beatty, in his evidence before the Senate Committee, declared that the first and most vital of all the public works of the Dominion of Canada, "is the relations with the government," he said, "and the details of the terms of that instrument have been varied from time to time, the company holds, as both a right and an obligation, the status of a public enterprise constructed primarily to assure the country adequate transportation facilities. It was quite natural for the government to assume the right to take over the company for the purpose of raising and expending capital for this purpose was entitled to make a legitimate profit. Indeed there is no other evidence of this than that the government sought to transfer to the public the entire portions of the railway, a sum of money in cash, and certain crown lands—sum of a gift but as a condition of a contract."

With respect to all this it may be said that the transfers or bonuses in question closed the bargain, and the Dominion is not under any obligations to ensure the C.P.R. a profit. That railway has not "the status of a public enterprise," but is a strictly a privately-owned enterprise. The public interest in the C.P.R. is not that it competes—the Canadian National system.

So while Sir Edward talks of an amalgamation of the two companies, it is a mere word. More interested in the return which would be available under their own investment in the National Railway. And what this return would be, even though the unified system of the C.P.R. Sir Edward claims it would save, he does not attempt to indicate, for he does not know how the amount of the savings would be divided. The Dominion would be left with the C.N.R. debt, but what would it get from net savings to supply the debt charges? When Sir Edward was asked he said:

"We have gone this far, that at least half of the savings should go to the Canadian National. But that is not the only way. The other part is to find a formula of dividing the present revenue before savings."

"You could not be so satisfied?" A "Oh, you, of course we would. Both parties have to be satisfied."

Small string beans and small yellow wax beans are wholesome non-starchy vegetables to be used with either protein or starch meals. As the beans inside the pods become matured, they develop a larger amount of starch and should be considered a starchy food. After the beans of any variety become mature, they may be shelled and served as butterbeans or broad beans.

In selecting string beans or snap beans, select those which are as fresh as to be crisp. If the beans are wilted they will not have the pleasant desirable flavor after cooking. In cooking string beans, leave out the grease or pork and you will find the beans then assure to digest a little better.

When you wish to serve the string beans as a non-starchy vegetable, it is well to open the pods and remove the larger beans. In serving lima beans, or any of the beans in the green state, remember you are getting a slightly larger amount of starch and use them as the principal starch food of the meal.

String beans in the alkaline-forming class, supply such food minerals as calcium and magnesium, and when used in the small, tender state, have almost the same properties as a green leafy vegetable.

In preparing the fresh string beans, first wash them well, then cut into small pieces and cook until tender in as little water as possible, season with butter when ready to serve. The amount of salt in the butter will usually season the beans sufficiently, if you desire. If you desire, it is all right to add a small amount of salt to the water in which the beans are cooked.

Here are a few recipes which you may find helpful.

New Potatoes and String Beans

Thoroughly wash new potatoes and then cut into cubes, leaving on the skins. Cook with cut-up fresh string beans. Serve with butter.

Combination Salad

Mixed cooked string beans, shredded lettuce, grated carrots and tomatoes. Cottage cheese may be served as a dressing.

String Bean Salad

Use the cooked, cold string beans. Place in a large salad bowl, using two forks to toss about the beans thoroughly with the desired amount of chopped onion and minced green olives. A little chopped celery may also be added, and if a dressing is desired, use a little olive oil. Serve on crisp leaves of lettuce on individual salad plates.

Although many of you will be using the fresh string beans while they are in season, and will be enjoying their flavor, also they may be canned variety is excellent. When purchasing the canned string beans, try to select those which are the smallest, when you wish to serve a non-starchy vegetable. Those who are going on trips will find it a good plan to take a few cans of string beans with them, which can be easily reheated when needed. Stop somewhere and cook some chops or a steak, heat a can of string beans, and make a salad and you have a delicious and beautiful meal.

Questions and Answers

QUESTION—M.G. inquires: "Is it correct that the expert mother must take care of the food she gives and that if she is denied that food, that she will thereby mark her child? I mean, if the mother craves strawberries and does not get them, that the child will have a mark which will look like a strawberry?"

ANSWER: There is no reason to believe that the mother of any certain article of food will produce any marking such as you describe. This theory as to the origin of birth marks has been proved to be without foundation. The birth mark is simply a congenital nevus, a reddish discoloration of the skin with which the child is born. The discolored patch is formed by dilated blood vessels at the skin surface and resembles the outline of a strawberry, it may remind the one who sees it, of a strawberry, both in color and in shape and is called a strawberry nevus. While the popular name for a congenital nevus is a "mother's mark" which would lead one to believe that the child was marked by the mother, the truth is that any food denied the mother, or any fright she might have had, had absolutely nothing to do with the defect. A birth mark occurs when the blood vessels at any particular spot do not develop normally at the same time that the other blood vessels are developing.

Some of the best of our best men and women have been given that particular name. All that the name means is that the mark was present at birth.

QUESTION—Mrs. Ida O. wants to know: "Are potatoes considered acid forming or alkaline forming?"

ANSWER: Potatoes have an alkaline reaction.

Idea of the division of net income from a C.P.R. viewpoint, Sir Edward said: "I do not think I could give it to you to expect. I do not think there is any way we could reach that separately." And then he said:

Q. "You gave a submission to the Royal (Duff) Commission, I think?" A. "Confidentially we gave a submission to the Royal Commission which they have never published so far as I know."

Q. "We have that published before in the evidence?" A. "No, that is not the one. There was a special exhibit prepared for their very confidential information, and I think they received it July 1, 1937."

So the proposed division of net earnings is kept secret—"very confidential." On this point various members of the Senate Committee would not get information from Sir Edward, but it was not forthcoming. The Dominion is asked to create a fund from monthly money which would be paid to shareholders of the privately-owned rail people a share return on their investment, but the people are kept in ignorance of even the estimated amount of the fund should be allocated towards payment of the Dominion's National Railway Debt.—Toronto Star.

Counter Propaganda Launched by Reich Agents

IN ALSACE ARE WORRY CAUSE

Vice-Premier Camille Chautemps Attends To Alsatian Affairs Only

PARIS, June 8.—Premier Edouard Daladier's government has launched a counter-propaganda campaign against what is described as a large-scale Nazi propaganda campaign in Alsace-Lorraine.

Activity of German agents in the province, lost by France in 1871 and recovered as a result of the Great War has impressed the government so seriously that Vice-Premier Camille Chautemps has been assigned to Alsatian affairs exclusively.

Early this spring Joseph Paul-Boncour, then foreign minister, told the chamber of deputies foreign affairs committee that Nazi agents were increasing their attempts to turn German-speaking citizens of Alsace-Lorraine against France.

END OF DEMANDS

After the Saar plebiscite, Jan. 13, 1935, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler proclaimed that return of the territory to Germany marked the end of Nazi territorial demands in France, but French officials charge that Prussian-born Hermann Bickler, chief of the autonomist party in Alsace-Lorraine, is seeking autonomy only to return the province to Germany.

Bickler, who became a naturalized Frenchman after the war, publicly declared it "a self-evident fact" that the "people of Alsace-Lorraine constitute a national minority inside France" and declared "the entire world no doubt has learned that we are of German language and character."

Whereupon the German newspaper "Elz" declared "Alsace remains more than ever foreign soil" and called for "a new plebiscite" to determine the future of the province.

WITNESS CLAIM

While most of the nearly 200,000 inhabitants of Alsace-Lorraine speak German, French officials dispute Bickler's claim that the population is of "German character."

Deputy Salomon Grambsch, vice-president of the chamber of deputies foreign affairs committee, told a Strasbourg meeting "Alsace is Frenchmen speaking a German dialect."

France has little fear that Germany can make another Austria out of Alsace-Lorraine, but the Maginot line is built in the frontier provinces and the government fears that even partial Nazi success among German speaking citizens might seriously threaten mobilization and the nation's defenses in event of war.

TRADE HANDEDS

The main theme of Nazi propaganda in the economic situation since the Saar plebiscite, Lorraine men pays heavy duties to enter the Saar basin where it is smelted. Customs duties hit Alsatian agricultural products sent to the large German Rhine-Ruhr. The Nazis argue union with the Reich would improve trade and bring prosperity in the provinces.

To hold the loyalty of the Alsatians, France has brought into use the theatre, radio and press in their own language, preaching loyalty to France and the benefits of democracy as opposed to German national socialism.

One French official summed it up as follows:

France cannot forget that, despite Hitler's pretensions of territorial peace with France, the German further wrote in his book "Mein Kampf" that France, the traditional enemy, must be destroyed, that all German-speaking people must be returned to the Reich. He has applied the teachings of his book one by one. That speaks louder for us than his speeches."

Polish Airmen Wing Home on Goodwill Flight

Flying one of the latest 2000-hp built for Polish Air Lines, five Polish aviators winged for Warsaw on an ambitious flight that took them from the Lockheed factory in Los Angeles through Central and South America, and across the South Atlantic to Africa, with a final nonstop hop to their homeland. The plane, shown above, is reputed to be the fastest transport in the world, with a cruising speed of 250 mph. Powered by two engines, it has a cruising range of 2000 miles and accommodates 14 passengers. The map shows the route the fliers are taking. The fliers themselves are shown in the lower right. Maj. Wladyslaw Makowski, general manager of Polish Air Lines, is in charge of the flight. They finished their trip June 4.

According To Culbertson

For run-the-hill heads in special bidding conventions are needed. Common sense methods do very well. But if only such heads came up bridge would be a very dull game indeed. It is the difficult-to-bid hands which both create the large "twins" and add the colorful and exciting elements. In trying to find the bid South hand in the following deal by "common sense" methods, "no-voluntarism" is used.

West dealer. Both deals vulnerable.

If South had not had available to him a convention which insured that his partner would keep the bidding open until the best contract was reached he would have been in a terrible spot. I wonder what the advocates of "common sense" methods would bid over the bidding given by South's hand? Surely they could not take the clairvoyant view that North had some club support, but no heart support and jump to either a game or slam in hearts.

Choral Service
Marks Wedding
In Highlands

Choral service marked the wedding ceremony which united in marriage Miss Edna Wilson and Mr. Stanley Pollard performed in Highlands United church on Saturday afternoon.

Rev. J. W. Smith officiated at the service. Mrs. S. P. Reynolds directed the choral singing while the wedding march was played by Mrs. C. E. Selzer.

Given in marriage by her father Mr. Louis F. Wilson, the bride chose for her wedding a modish frock of white chiffon, with which she wore a small white hat, adorned with forget-me-nots. Her bouquet was of white sweet peas, lilacs, thistles and forget-me-nots.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollard will make their home in Edmonton.

IN-LAWS LIVING TOGETHER WRONG ALDERMAN AVERS

CALGARY, June 8.—It is morally wrong to make these people live with their in-laws" declared Alderman Mrs. Rose Wilkinson when she appeared before the civic unemployment relief committee to protest on behalf of 18 relief recipients who were appealing against "amalgamation of houses" Wednesday.

Recently the city council approved a recommendation that so far as possible relief families be amalgamated in houses in order to reduce the cost of relief rental.

The chief complaint of the relief recipients was that "the women can't get along in the house."

One appeal was allowed while the others were rejected through some will be referred to the officials for further investigation.

TEMPERATURE CONVENTION TO BE HELD IN LATE JUNE

Residing members that the Temperature Convention would be held in late June, Mrs. B. L. Willis, temperature secretary of Northwest United Church, W.M.S., was a speaker at the meeting held one afternoon this past week.

Speaking also in the cause of temperance was Mrs. R. Kingsbury told of the progress of work in California.

Mrs. C. W. R. Solomon, Mrs. R. Kingsbury and Mrs. F. Prichard will have charge of the July meeting of the group, to be held at the Forty-six clubs have been made just recently, stated Mrs. Prichard, to members and adherents of the group.

THE FLOUGHBY'S LASS

Hand in hand the lassie waltz. Demure in laundried dimly—Each a blizzard so in talk. Each a wave upon the sea. But my love, I will pass! Not a looney-see will pass!

Two by two the lasses go: One has dimples in her cheeks. Another has a voice so low. Music trembles when she speaks. But mine—mine! Has cheeks like roses, lips like wine.

Many have a dancing foot. Some have a laugh and true. Three or four can touch the lute. To a measure old or new:—Ah, but who can sing in heretofore a melody!

Must have neither more or less. They are stars, many and bright. In their loveliness, which they wear. Like crowding planets of the night. Only one. In herself both moon and sun. —Audrey Alexander Brown, in the Winnipeg Free Press.

Tag Day Will Aid Cause Of Humane Club

Edmonton Humane Society's only appeal to the citizens of Edmonton for support of their aim to prevent cruelty to dumb animals—an annual tag day—will be held this year on Saturday, June 11. It is announced by society officials today. Mrs. H. de Norban Watson is convener of the tag day, and has more than one hundred members.

Active for many years in Edmonton, the society has stood always for the prevention of unnecessary hardship to animals and to improve the lot of working animals. To accomplish their ends, a humane officer is employed by the society whose duty it is to give instruction in the care and handling of animals. His is the task to see that working animals are properly covered in winter, that no horse ever Working in close conjunction with the Edmonton City Police and the R.C.M.P., he may at any time bring prosecution. It is, however, thought that the investigation and removal of the animals will be completed in a few days.

Their motto is, "We plead for those who cannot speak for themselves."

Headquarters for the tag day committee will be in the Empire theatre during the day. Assisting Mrs. Watson with preparations and arrangements for the tag day were Mrs. W. R. Walsh, the president, Mrs. George Grayden, Mrs. A. Miles, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Souness, Mrs. Randlett, Mrs. F. J. Buck, Mrs. O. Dickard, Mr. E. N. Hiebish and

1,100 Mine Workers On Relief, Union Chief Claims

POVERTY FOR DRUMHELLER VIEW GIVEN

Miners Seeking 20 Per Cent Increase In Wages With Short Week

DRUMHELLER, June 9.—Approximately 1,100 coal mine workers are on relief and "living in poverty" in the Drumheller valley, charged James Conroy, president of the local unit District 18, United Mine Workers of America, who testified before the Dye commission here Wednesday.

Conroy, a miner for 36 years, a witness before the board hearing a workers' complaint, charging a 40 per cent wage increase, told of conditions in the valley field. He declared:

"The miners live in poverty because of the operators' take-expansion policy. They have no money and are making a 20 per cent increase in daily wages, a six-hour day and five-day week."

BEING MISERY

"Personal conditions in wages, of which there have been three since 1932, brought only misery and degradation and increased relief rolls," he said.

"He said he had gross earnings of $725 during the 1937 season and asserted, to support his claim, that he received $2,000 a year. "The miners cannot stand a four-day week," he said. "If the government would help the situation somewhat," he added, "I believe the miners would be just as well off as the miner who as the latter had his wages diminished during the working season."

INCREASES DAILY

Former coal operator, Jesse Gouge, presented a government statement to show that the reduction of wages during the 1937 season was worked by the men in Drumheller. He declared that in 1936 the miners with 1,118 men working, earned an average of $1,375 a year and in 1937 they earned an average of $1,524. In 1938 he said, 1,100 miners earned a total of $2,200,000.

Gouge told the board the basic wage rate has never been below $100 daily wage level in the Drumheller field at any time.

James Conroy, secretary of district 18, doubled the government figures. He asked that actual figures be given from the files of the individual companies.

Brokers Firm To Be Liquidated

VANCOUVER, June 9.—Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in Supreme court yesterday appointed J. D. Malher a liquidator to wind up the affairs of J. B. Chalmers, Ltd., Vancouver broker, formerly president of the firm, after the trial of J. B. Chalmers, president of the company, on a charge of embezzling certain shares of stock belonging before Judge A. H. Harper in court.

To Be Quizzed

TORONTO, June 9.—Undersheriff who attended a Press meeting here Sunday addressed by Attorney General of Montreal will be questioned by military authorities. Col. O. S. Hillhouse, officer commanding the Royal Artillery unit here, is in 1938.

Most polar bears live permanently on the ice, often hundreds of miles from the nearest land. The cubs are born in a snug den among the hummocks on the sea ice, and are able to follow their mother about when spring comes. Seals form the greater part of their food.

Extreme GROUP MOVES GIVE FEELING OF SECURITY

American Psychiatric Association Convention
Hears Address

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9—A description of extreme nationalism as a mass form of attractive power between persons of the same sex highlighted the American Psychiatric Association convention here today.

Dr. Frederick H. Allen, director of the Philadelphia child guidance clinic, said the phenomenon might be described as cultural homosexuality. He suggested the narrower forces of individualism resulted from the tendency of certain frustrated individuals to seek group security by making everybody alike.

MAN MOVEMENT
A recent article by a German writer, Dr. Allen said, showed the nationalistic trend in Germany as a mass movement with direct attempts to reduce women to the status of breeders.

Allen said this tendency occurred in groups of individuals who preferred to surrender their personalities to a common pattern for the sake of self-perpetuation in the group. He said that individuals who attempt to be themselves.

INSECURE FEELING
Individually, the psychiatrist said, this disposition appeared in certain frustrated persons having an insecure feeling about self—unable to establish confidence in their own personalities because they do so would give them a feeling of security. But, he said, it is not the feeling of security that they seek.

Allen said individuals with this affliction develop delusions of persecution, intense nationalism, futuristic feeling, or a feeling of being persecuted. He said that individuals with this affliction develop delusions of persecution, intense nationalism, futuristic feeling, or a feeling of being persecuted.

SENATE AWAITS DEVELOPMENT ON NIAGARA BRIDGE

OTTAWA, June 9—In an effort to get the Ontario government and the International Railway Company to compose their differences with regard to the Niagara Falls bridge, the Senate today passed a bill that would incorporate a provincial-sponsored concern to construct a new bridge.

Motion to adjourn came from Senator John T. Hilt (Can. Minn.) after Senator Hilt moved that the Senate adjourn until after the bill is passed. The bill, which would incorporate a provincial-sponsored concern to construct a new bridge.

Several senators expressed amazement that no effort appeared to have been made by the Ontario government to complete the International Railway Company for which, according to the bill, amounted to destruction of the company's vested rights.

Church School
Service Question
Is Given Hoist

TORONTO, June 9—Question of the Presbyterian Church in Canada in the work of the Service of the Church of Canada was set before the church's general assembly today.

Dr. S. Banks Nelson, Hamilton, made a plea for participation in the council which includes many of the religious groups in Canada. Dr. Alexander Elder, Vancouver, was in favor of setting aside the idea of taking part in the council and "sticking to the good old ways."

CANTON SUFFERS 13TH SUCCESSIVE DAY BOMBINGS

CANTON, June 9.—Japanese airplanes ferried their cargoes of explosives and dropped them in the vicinity of Canton today for the 13th consecutive day. The raiders blasted three railway stations in the vicinity but dropped no bombs on the shattered south China metropolis, where intensive anti-aircraft fire greeted them.

The stations were Yingtak on the Canton-Hankow line, Sheklung on the Canton-Kowloon line that feeds China war supplies from the blockaded British port of Hong Kong, and Shukwan.

A second incendiary bombing at 9 a.m. smashed locomotives and coaches of a train but crew and passengers escaped.

Care In Municipal Budgetting Urged To Balance Revenue, Spending

DEPUTY GIVES POINTERS TO SECRETARIES

Meticulous Care Should Be Used In Finances, Souter Says

Counselling municipal secretaries to remember to collect money while they are expending it on municipal needs, Alexander Souter, deputy minister of municipal affairs, in addressing the 10th annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts at the legislative buildings on Wednesday, dealt in some detail with municipal budgeting.

Mr. Souter declared that there were many things that municipal secretaries should do and many more they should not do.

Budgets should not only be balanced, but they should be handled with meticulous care in every respect.

He took as an example of poor budgeting a municipal district which, over a five year period, had collected $50,000 in taxes and then it showed working out of taxes to the tune of $10,000. But, liabilities had been pyramided to the point where it owed $55,000 and the net result "every one was carrying the district but itself."

IN DIFFICULTIES
He instanced another district which collected taxes at the rate of five mills, but paid at the rate of 12 and therefore found itself in difficulties.

Several districts were taken by Mr. Souter as examples and he pointed out that those were drawn from good ones—and now from the dried out system of the province.

"Thus he said he felt well vindicated in urging the secretaries to take every care and precaution in budgeting."

Mr. Lawrence, of Springfield, near Calgary, addressed the convention on collection of taxes of municipalities.

He told of an area where there were 700 parcels of land, of which only 50 were paying taxes. These were reconditioned and then the large percentage of them became taxpaying at the rate of eight mills.

WHAT MAKES PERSONALITY, HOUSE QUERY

OTTAWA, June 8.—How the civil service commission defined "personality" was of great importance, J. P. Douglas (Lib., Temiscouata), chairman of the House of Commons committee on the Civil Service Act, declared on Wednesday. In all advertisements for civil service positions personality was included as a necessary qualification, he noted.

"Personality is judged today on a standard set by movie actresses," he said. He desired to know whether the commission was swayed by a "new hat, a new dress or a new permanent wave."

ed to the convention by the committee in charge.

The convention was continued on Thursday. The agenda for the day includes election of officers, addresses by Premier William Abernethy and Hon. Lucien Maynard, as well as by R. H. Fitzgerald on his recovery, J. W. Judge on assessment, J. O. Letourneau, T. A. Roy on financing of school divisions by municipalities and by Prof. Wyatt of the University of Alberta, on soils.

There are 60 delegates attending the convention.

Canada to Build Bombers Like This for Britain?

With Britain's furious drive for a larger air force already overtaxing production, Canadian industry stands an excellent chance to secure contracts for the construction of heavy long-range bombers, as soon as the air mission, now in Ottawa, headed by Comm. J. G. Weir, has made its report to the British air ministry. Investigation of American production possibilities is believed to have revealed that private and government orders, plus the likelihood of neutrality entanglements in the event of war, ruled out the republic as a source of supply.

Worst Drought In Hundred Years Is Viewed In Europe

NEW YORK, June 8.—A drought "worse than any in 100 years" combined with unseasonable frosts, insect pests and plant and domestic animal diseases, has created a "very alarming" agricultural situation in Europe, Howard D. Salins of Chicago, managing director of the Flax and Fibre Institute of America, said today.

He returned to Europe from a two-month trip abroad during which he made an agricultural survey for the institute.

Salins said in an interview that the European farming picture had become so "gloomy" in the last two months that if the United States had the agricultural products to send abroad "our farmers would be on a high plane of prosperity."

ALL COUNTRIES HIT
"In Europe, and that takes in practically every country in Europe, including Great Britain, they have been faced with a drought worse than any in 100 years," he said. "There isn't a country that hasn't been hit quite hard."

The drought began in March and was almost continuous until the middle of May, he said, and there were frosts into May, nipping what crops had pushed above ground. He also said farm animals had suffered serious epidemics of foot and mouth disease.

"Italy agriculturally is in a deplorable condition," he said. "Russia has been hit. Germany has had not only drought, but such heat that fires have burned crops. The potato crop in Ireland has been ruined."

Salins added that "Scotures like Australia, Australia and New Zealand have also been hit. New Zealand with a 36-day drought—the worst in her history," and that this made the world agricultural situation worse.

Hotel Workers Start Strike On Rose Festival

NORFOLK, June 9.—Guests and hotel employees here—wounded by a strike through Portland hotels—may quit work in sight of the city's largest festival.

TORONTO, June 9.—They call it the frozen north but temperature records released today by the Dominion meteorological bureau show Dawson City, Yukon Territory, 500 miles north of the Arctic circle, was twice as warm Tuesday than Los Angeles in sunny California. Dawson recorded a high of 58 degrees and Los Angeles 54.

Lightning kills approximately one person out of every three that it strikes.

KNEES WENT STIFF IN HIS SLEEP

Agony to Move Them When He Awoke

"For three years," writes this City man, "I suffered with pain across the lower part of my back. In the morning, I awoke with knees so stiff that it was agony to move them. Special treatment would make the pain a little easier—but that was all. Then a friend recommended Kneecaps, which my doctor said I might take. I began with about a coffee-spoonful of this thing in the morning. To my surprise, I found my knees stiff and pain disappearing. I kept on with Kneecaps, and although I am more than middle-aged, I have been free from pain for two years, and able to go in my office every day."—A.W.
Rheumatic conditions are often the result of an excess of uric acid in the blood. Two of the ingredients of Kneecaps salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to sweep the dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

CALGARY CITY SITE CHOSEN FOR REFINERY

British American Oil Company May Build $1,300,000 Plant

CALGARY, June 9.—Calgary has been selected as the site for a $1,300,000 oil refinery by the British American Oil Company Limited, it was announced today by the company's president, Mr. A. E. Ellis, who is visiting Calgary.

"This information will be absolutely essential in presenting our case to the railway board respecting freight rates on quantity of oil shipped," Mr. Campbell said. He indicated it was the duty of the association to seek the information.

The survey would also include plans for ascertaining the cost of handling, storage, and distribution of oil at the site. It was estimated that it would cost $60,000 to build a pipeline from Calgary to Vancouver.

One of the biggest steel jobs of all time fell to E. A. Sullivan, sculptor of the five huge reliefs in Dinosaur Park near Rapid City, S.D. Sullivan is pictured here, with the assistance of a WPA worker, he completed the first of the five huge reliefs in Dinosaur Park.

With work going ahead again after a delay caused by Sullivan's convalescence, he hopes to complete the five huge reliefs in Dinosaur Park by June 1.

3 WOMEN DEAD WHEN CAR TURNS TURTLE IN DITCH

SPOKANE, Wash., June 9.—Three middle-aged women were killed, another seriously hurt, when the husband of one of the victims lost control of his car, the result of an automobile accident last night 40 miles west of here.

The five, all from the same family, were returning home from a conference of the International Brotherhood of Women in Seattle, Wash., and were returning home when their car overturned and rolled down a rocky ditch.

Mr. Belle Hagerberg, 50, Clearwater, Neb., died almost instantly and Mrs. Frances Hagerberg, 40, Clearwater, Neb., died about 10 minutes later. Mrs. Frank Hagerberg, 35, Clearwater, Neb., died about 10 minutes later.

Frank Hagerberg, her husband, was killed today, attending physicians said. Mrs. Hagerberg, 35, Clearwater, Neb., died about 10 minutes later.

Eye Service To Needy Is Newest Plan

CALGARY, June 9.—Members of the Alberta Optometric Association will establish a service to provide eye tests and glasses for persons in need of relief or in the small income class. Decision to inaugurate a "service for the needy" was made at the association's annual conference here Wednesday.

A similar service is operated by Vancouver Optometric Association, it was reported to conference delegates.

R. Carter of Edmonton was elected president of the association.

MEIGHEN RAPS DOMINION ON STRIKE STATE

Unemployed Occupation Of Public Buildings Is Scored

OTTAWA, June 9.—In Vancouver the government is "branding its neck in a six-dinner strike" by transferring responsibility for the unemployed to the municipalities, Mr. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, said in the senate Wednesday.

"I suppose if the unemployed took question of these parliament buildings the government would assume the same attitude and say the matter was up to the municipality," he added.

DOMINION LOANS This week was considering the government measure providing $30,000,000 in Dominion loans to municipalities for refunding public works. The loans must be guaranteed by the province.

Meighen's reference was to the unemployed taking possession of Vancouver's post office. The "spinous government" in Ottawa was justifying down and letting the municipalities pay the cost of things could be started in the province of the unemployed in Canada "was too awful for Canadians to contemplate," he said.

MEIGHEN RAPS DOMINION ON STRIKE STATE

Unemployed Occupation Of Public Buildings Is Scored

OTTAWA, June 9.—In Vancouver the government is "branding its neck in a six-dinner strike" by transferring responsibility for the unemployed to the municipalities, Mr. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, said in the senate Wednesday.

"I suppose if the unemployed took question of these parliament buildings the government would assume the same attitude and say the matter was up to the municipality," he added.

DOMINION LOANS This week was considering the government measure providing $30,000,000 in Dominion loans to municipalities for refunding public works. The loans must be guaranteed by the province.
